USC Emeriti Center

My Confidential Documents.

THE USC EMERITI CENTER continually seeks our colleagues' knowledge and experience to develop resources that benefit the USC retiree community, the university, and the community at large. This publication, "My Confidential Documents", is one of several resources developed at the Emeriti Center and is designed to help prepare, collect and store all important information in one place.

Our retired USC faculty and staff are concerned about those who experience the loss or illness of a loved one and are faced with a number of decisions that they may not be prepared to handle. As a result of this concern, a group of USC retirees compiled a comprehensive list of what is needed when a loved one becomes incapacitated or passes away. We hope that this booklet is helpful for all members of the Trojan Family and our many colleagues and friends.

Janette C. Brown, Ed.D.

Executive Director, USC Emeriti Center

INSTRUCTIONS:

Keep copies of documents, instructions, and information in one place. Review and update your important documents periodically. Also, review beneficiary designations on a regular basis. Share this planner with your spouse, partner, or another family member or friend so that your loved ones will know your wishes and have access to your key documents and information. Include copies of wills, living trusts, durable powers of attorney, and advanced directives (living wills).

Part of the Office of the Provost since 1978, the USC Emeriti Center serves the University's retirees and pre-retirees in living healthy and purposeful lives by providing opportunities, resources, services, advocacy, privileges, and support. The Center is home to the USC Emeriti Center College, which operates a speakers' bureau, offers classes and small research grants, and fosters multidisciplinary, multigenerational, and multicultural opportunities for lifelong learning. The Emeriti Center is home to the USC Living History Project recording legacy interviews with USC faculty and staff. It also supports the activities of USC's Retired Faculty Association (RFA) and the Staff Retirement Association (SRA), and encourages all members of the Trojan Family to participate in its many programs.
